GOULD AND WILTON IN SCORELESS TIE

Gould Academy brought its 1942 season to a close by holding a highly favored Wilton Academy team to a 0-0 tie. Even without scoring the game was not devoid of thrills, as both teams got runners into the open, threw numerous passes, halted lengthy sustained drives, and put on some fine exhibitions of open field tackling. The kicking of Bradlee of Gould and Wilton's Trask added zest to the game as they attempted to outdo each other in a punting duel which kept first one team and then the other at bay.

Wilton gained 10 first downs while making two long sustained drives headed by their big star Trask, ably assisted by some fine running by Briggs. The first drive of 68 yards ended on the 17 yard line when the whistle blew to end the first half. The second concerted drive, this one of 70 yards, ended on the 3 yard line where Wilton was penalized 15 yards when the ball carrier, Trask, was penalized for helping his blocker ahead of him to maintain his feet.

Gould's big chance came when the last period opened as Reid had recovered a Wilton fumble on the 28 yard line just before the whistle blew to end the third period. A pass Emery to Sanborn netted 7 yards and then Rosenberg crashed the center of the line for 18 yards and nearly got away. This gave Gould their second first down of the game and also the last. With the ball on the three yard line Wilton buckled down and held firmly as they held Gould just 6 inches shy of the coveted goal on the fourth down. This proved to be the last scoring opportunity for either team as Trask kicked out of bounds on the 40 yard line from deep in his end zone. The game ended just after Merrill turned in a neat 15 yard run to Wilton's 30 yard line where an attempted pass was intercepted by the visitors just as the final whistle blew.

For Gould the tackling of Hawkins was outstanding as he roamed the field to nail runners who had broken into open. Rosenberg proved the outstanding blocker and did a good job in hitting the big Wilton line. The whole team however again proved that they had really developed into a real team after their early season mediocre performances. The gradual development of the squad from week to week to its excellent performances in the final two games makes the 1942 season well worth while and gives the school a great deal of satisfaction over the performance of this years squad.

OIL USERS MUST REGISTER

It is understood that all users of oil for heating, cooking or lighting must send their application to the rationing board. Reports that oils may not be rationed for certain purposes has caused confusion on this point, but even if a reduction of the quantity used is not required application blanks should be filled out and forwarded to the board.

RUBINO CLOSING STORE HERE

John Rubino will close his store in Bethel soon, transferring the stock to his Rumford store. He hoped at first to sell the local business but as this has not been possible, the place will be closed. During his three years stay here, he has enjoyed a very generous patronage, both by the townspeople and travelers.

Since opening the store here the Rumford store has been carried on by Mrs. Rubino, and because the help of their family is not now available, it becomes necessary to continue only one place. Many Bethel people will regret Mr. Rubino's decision.

A Week of the War

War Production Chairman Nelson reported overall munitions production in September was 7 percent above August, with airplanes up 10 percent, ordnance up 7 percent, Navy and Army vessels up 22 percent, and merchant ships up 10 percent.

The report stated that the WPB index of munitions production increased 24 points in September to 381—four times the production rate at the time of Pearl Harbor. The Treasury paid out $5,500 million for war purposes, an increase of $300 over August. This amounted to 40 percent of all payments made in the United States for goods and services during the month.

While merchant ship production was 10 percent above August, actual tonnage delivered was 34 percent above August—1,009,000 deadweight tons compared with 753,000 in August. This was 12 percent above first of the month forecasts and approached closely the total production of merchant shipyards last year. During the month, 12 major combat vessels were launched, the report stated. Deliveries of major vessels were greater than forecast, but deliveries of other types were behind expectations.

The Army Specialist Corps, which had inducted approximately 1,300 men, was abolished, the War Department announced, and all future commissions directly from civil life will be given in the Specialist Reserve until the men commissioned have completed a course of military training. Then they will be commissioned in appropriate grades in the Army. Members of the Corps already in the Service will be tendered commissions in the Army of the United States, if qualified.

The change was made, the War Department said, because it was found inadvisable "in the interest of efficiency, uniformity of operations, discipline and the avoidance of duplication of effort" to have two uniformed services. Applications now on file for the Specialist Corps will "continue to be available for consideration for appointments in the Army of the United States," the Department said. Under the new rules no person under 35, without previous commissioned service, will be appointed unless he has been classified 4-F for physical disability. No person without previous commissioned service who is between 34 and 45 will be accepted if his classification is 1-A or 2. Exceptions will be made to these rules only where there is "critical need" for the applicant's services.

War Secretary Stimson reported the Alcan highway is now open to trucks carrying munitions and materials to troops in Alaska for its entire length of 1,671 miles. Formal opening will probably take place Nov. 15, he said. Mr. Stimson said the furlough period of two weeks given newly-inducted soldiers will be reduced to one week. Approximately 3,400 tons of mail, including more than 1,000,000 Christmas parcels, were sent to U. S. armed forces overseas during the first 10 days of October.

The War Front

Army Chief of Staff Marshall, in a letter to Commander in Chief King of the U. S. Fleet, said the "skillful seamanship" of the Navy has already escorted 800,000 soldiers safely "across the submarine-infested waters of the Atlantic and Pacific."

The Navy reported Nov. 1 that

C. OF C. LEARNS OF GOULD'S PRE-FLIGHT COURSE

The regular meeting of the Bethel Chamber of Commerce was held at the Legion rooms Tuesday evening. After the business meeting Alfred Fortier, of the Gould Academy faculty, told the group about the Pre-Flight Aeronautics Course at the local school. He said that great numbers of the young people today are "air-minded," and the purpose of his course is to show the pupils the rudiments of aviation and that it is possible for a student to learn to fly easily, thus the student becomes "air-conditioned." The course offers considerable instruction in aeronautics in the processes used in flying, and aviation and some practice and it is hoped to have parts of planes and motors for examination.

Committees for the December meeting were appointed: supper, H. I. Bean, Dr. E. L. Brown, Robert Blake; tickets—Eugene Van Den Kerckhoven, Philip Burns, Royal Hodsdon. The meeting was preceded by an oyster stew supper, served by Eugene Van Den Kerckhoven, William Chapman, and Carl Brown.

Two enemy aircraft carriers, two battleships and three cruisers were damaged and 100 airplanes destroyed in a great sea and air battle 250 miles northeast of Guadalcanal. Navy Secretary Knox said the Japanese fleet units have retired from the scene in the Solomons and the "first round" of that battle is over. In the battle the U. S. lost an unidentified aircraft carrier and the destroyer Porter. Following this battle U. S. naval units shelled enemy positions on Guadalcanal. On the ground U. S. Marines and soldiers repulsed all Japanese attempts to dent their positions around Henderson airfield. Gen. MacArthur's headquarters in Australia reported Nov. 2 that fresh bombing raids on Jap bases at Buin and Faisi were believed to have sunk or damaged seven more enemy surface ships.

Rationing

Agriculture Secretary Wickard ordered 144 types of new farm machinery and equipment, excluding repair parts, frozen as of Nov. 1 in the hands of dealers, distributors and manufacturers pending formal rationing. The Agricultural Department and its State War Boards will establish State and county quotas. The WPB delegated the authority to ration milk cans and farm fencing. The OPA will redelegate this authority to the Agriculture Department. Sugar rations for Army and Navy personnel on furlough will be one-half pound per week, instead of on the basis of the value of the current sugar ration coupon. The first coffee ration will be obtained beginning Nov. 28 by surrendering the last coupon, No. 28, in the sugar ration book, and subsequent ration in sequence toward the rationations will be given on coupons of the book.

LT. THORNTON LOSES LIFE TUESDAY IN MISSISSIPPI

Bethel friends of Mrs. Marjorie Burns Thornton were grieved Wednesday to learn of the death of her husband, 1st Lt. Philip Thornton, which occurred Tuesday at Columbus, Miss., where he was a flying instructor.

Lt. and Mrs. Thornton were married at Macon, Ga., Jan. 20, where he was stationed for some time before going to Columbus. Mrs. Thornton is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip R. Burns of Bethel.

RUBBER CONSERVATION VITAL TO WAR EFFORT

Much of our transportation rolls on rubber wheels—about 86 percent of all travel in the U. S. is by passenger automobiles. In 2,300 cities and towns they constitute the only available means of transportation. And were millions of farmers, war workers and others engaged in vital services to be deprived of the use of their cars, the extra load could not possibly be absorbed by buses, street cars, and railroads. If we were to use up our existing tires recklessly, all the steps so far taken to save rubber might not avert a great transportation disaster. For we must save our stocks of crude and synthetic rubber for our armies—they also roll forward on rubber wheels.

After November 22 we'll have to get along with only one spare tire for each passenger car. All others must be sold to the government, and it is hoped that by this means some ten million tires may be secured. Some of these will be good only for scrap rubber, but the greater part will serve as a reservoir from which tires may be drawn to meet essential needs.

The program will not alter the necessity to keep autos within the 35 miles an hour maximum speed limit, in fact, we'll be more than ever obligated to take the best possible care of the five tires we keep. The Railway Express Agency will collect the "idle" tires at no cost to owners. While motorists may keep their five best tires, they must note the serial numbers of those they keep—these numbers must be given on your application for gasoline mileage ration.

MRS. OSMAN PALMER

Mrs. Vivian Palmer, wife of Osman Palmer, died suddenly last Thursday evening at her home on Rowe Hill. She was born Feb. 7, 1903, in Milan, N. H., the daughter of Eugene and Mertie Lorry Chayer.

Besides her husband she is survived by seven children, Mrs. Elizabeth Bailey, Rosalia, Eunice, Osman Jr., Francis, Herman and Wayne; three sisters, Mrs. Lena Cantello of Mexico, Mrs. Amy Farrar of Rumford, and Mrs. Mabel Pearce of Albany; and a brother, Arthur Chayer of Bethel.

GOULD ACADEMY

Camera Club

On Wednesday, October 28, the Gould Academy Camera Club had its fifth meeting of the season. The first page of notes was given to the members by Mr. Foster for their photographic notebooks, which he has urged them to start. This first contribution is the formula, the proper way to mix, and the uses of a hypo fixing bath.

The members also discussed the first issues of the two photographic magazines to which the club has subscribed.

Mr. Foster then closed the meeting on a very interesting note by showing the club several examples of his good fortune in contests through the use of photography.

Oona Munson

Talented Star of the Movies

During these war days, when fashions are greatly influenced by the military and emphasizes tailored simplicity, it is refreshing to see a wartime frock that has the soft feminine touch without resorting to the now outmoded frills.

The fashion detail of this flattering frock is the apron front, with wide lace trim so woven that it looks like military braid. The sleeves have an echoing trim of the lace. The high round neck heads a row of fabric buttons, and the bodice is gathered on each side. The skirt falls into gentle folds and flares delightfully with each movement. Because of the strictly feminine lines this frock is highly successful in bringing out the good points of one's figure. Preferable colors are feminine, too. The two best are a beach blue or a cherry wine.

ANNOUNCED FOR NOVEMBER

Blue stamp foods available during November to participants in the Food Stamp Plan were announced October 29 by Charles M. Quinn, local representative of the Agricultural Marketing Administration. November foods, the same as those listed for October, include fresh fruits and vegetables, whole wheat and enriched flour and other protective foods.

According to Mr. Quinn, participation in the Food Stamp Plan by persons who receive public aid increases the food purchasing power of some 3,000,000 consumers who are thus enabled to improve their limited diets and help raise the national health level.

In addition to enabling needy persons to obtain a more healthful diet, the stabilizing effects of the Food Stamp Plan on farmer's markets helps American farmers maintain their increased production of wartime food.

The complete Blue Stamp list is:

SHIPBOARD FIGHTER PLANES of the Merchant Service Fighter Unit are catapulted from freighters when the convoy is attacked by enemy bombers. The R.A.F. pilot may have to land on the sea miles from land. But the loss of his plane is nothing to the loss of even a single ship with its precious cargo. Many ships have already been saved by catafighters routing Axis torpedo plane attacks. This is the first picture showing how fast British Hurricane fighters are "loaded" on a freighter's catapult before she sails to join her convoy.

CHRISTMAS CARDS

Wouldn't you like a personal Christmas card like this? You can make your own if you start planning and working toward it now.

ANTICIPATING coming events is a trait common to most successful photographers. So, I've been wondering if any of you have yet begun looking ahead to Christmas.

Why? Well, there's just one big reason—it's time to start thinking about making your personal photographic Christmas cards. Before you realize it things are going to be happening fast. And, if you delay the preparation of your Christmas cards, it will be increasingly difficult not only to find the time, but to do a really first-rate job. That's why you should get started now.

Actually, the preparation of photographic Christmas cards doesn't take too much time or effort—particularly if you're already doing your own developing and printing. But even if you're not, you can learn very easily, or you can enlist the help of your local photographer. He'll make the cards for you, from your own negatives, and deliver them all finished and ready to mail.

All you have to do is this: Either choose one of your best snapshots, or take a special picture with some holiday meaning, and then turn the negative over to your photographer. He'll show you a choice of greeting card styles which are available, and you can have your card made—just like the sample.

If you choose to make your own, you can buy a Christmas card printing outfit—which will contain full instructions on how to print your own card, complete with greetings. Or, if you want to keep expenses down to a minimum, you can have a number of prints made from your favorite snapshot, then mount them on cards and write in your own greeting.

Whichever method you choose, start work right now. That's the way to be sure you won't be caught napping when Christmas actually arrives.

ECONOMIC HIGHLIGHTS

National and International Problems Inseparable from Local Welfare

This will be the last "Economic Highlights" for the duration of the war. Every issue of this feature since its beginning some years ago has been written by one editor—Roderick Lull. Mr. Lull enlisted in the Army recently for officers training. He has been ordered to report immediately, necessitating this abrupt announcement. He will be on leave of absence and while his column will be missed by many readers we are sure they all join us in wishing Mr. Lull success in the service and a safe return.

For the first time in its history, this country is fighting a war on all the continents and all the oceans. American troops and equipment are now engaged in every battlefield from Russia to Africa. And the numbers so engaged will increase vastly and swiftly in the future. It has taken us a long time to move from the defensive to the offensive stage in our war strategy, but we are gradually getting there.

This is the first real "global war" history has ever known. By comparison, the wars of the past were localized operations. The master plan laid down by Hitler at the beginning should now be clear to everyone. First, it was necessary for him to conquer all of Europe, and to make it as invulnerable to invasion as possible. Second, it was necessary for him to obtain the vast oil and grain resources of Russia, and to eliminate the Ruswas in Hitler's mind when he sent his troops into Poland in 1939. The first step has been taken—all Europe is in his power, and Allied raids such as that made against Dieppe show that he has built formidable defenses. The balance of the steps have not been taken—and the magnificent fight put up by the Russians must be given much of the credit for that. Rommel's Afrika Korps might have driven through to Suez had not it been necessary to divert more and more Axis troops, planes and supplies to the Russian front. Japan might have gone farther yet in the Pacific had not the superb Russian resistance made it necessary for her to maintain big garrisons facing the borders of Asiatic Russia. And Russia's stand must have had a depressing effect on the German masses at home. Long ago, Hitler promised them a quick and easy victory in Russia. That was the first promise of conquest to his own people that he has not been able to live up to. A dictator who cannot keep his word no longer wears the aura of invincibility.

This does not mean that the United Nations yet have the upper hand in the war. They have not. They have lost much and taken almost nothing. Whether or not Russia can continue as an effective, hard-hitting belligerent is the gravest of today's unanswered questions. The great battle of the Pacific is as yet in the preliminary stages. The obvious reluctance of United Nations leaders to deal frankly with the all-important issue of the second front indicates that we are still a long way from being really ready to carry the war home to the enemy. The problem of shipping is not solved—though there has been an encouraging decline in U-boat depredations. And no one knows whether the faith placed in air power by some Allied Commanders is justified.

In short, we have not stopped the Axis—but we have slowed it. Japan is finding her long Pacific supply line costly—we have taken a tremendous toll of Jap ships and planes and seamen. German losses in Russia, even if we greatly minimize the Moscow accounts, must be enormous, and a large part of the casualties consist of first-line veterans. The Axis, to sum up, has spent much of its strength in the war to date—we have spent little of ours.

Here at home, the domestic situation is clearing. The problems of supply and production are being handled better. Some effort is being made to deal effectively with the crucial manpower situation. The drafting of the 18 and 19 year olds will give the military forces about 1,500,000 first-class soldiers. There's plenty of confusion, plenty of waste motion still, but it is gradually lessening.

Recent reports from all the battlefronts indicate that new American equipment is vastly superior to that of the past. The Flying Fortress has proven itself the best plan in the world of its kind. It carries a smaller bomb load than the British Sterling, but it is much less vulnerable to attack. American tanks of the General Grant class are excellent, and early bugs in design have been eliminated. And great advancement has taken place in our pursuit planes, which originally were no match at all for Axis types.

Our latent power is beginning to be felt—and felt on the six continents. Now it remains to be seen how swiftly we can increase that power, and put it to work.

It may be caused by disorder of kidney function that permits poisonous waste to accumulate. For truly many people feel tired, weak and miserable when the kidneys fail to remove excess acids and other waste matter from the blood.

You may suffer nagging backache, rheumatic pains, headaches, dizziness, getting up at night, leg pains, swelling. Sometimes frequent and scanty urination with smarting and burning is another sign that something is wrong with the kidneys or bladder.

There should be no doubt that prompt treatment is wiser than neglect. Use Doan's Pills. It is better to rely on a medicine that has won countrywide approval than on something less favorably known. Doan's have been tried and tested many years. Are at all drug stores. Get Doan's today.

FACING THE FACTS ABOUT WAR FINANCE

No. 2 This, the second in a series of pictorialized articles compiled by the Tax Foundation, shows the over-all size of the war program as it relates to national income and a sound national economy. These questions and answers, along with the others in the series, are intended to assist the average American in better understanding the vital question of war finance. There are many fronts in this war. The battle front, the production front, the rationing front, the paying front . . . we have got to win them all! We can maintain a sound economy and hold inflation in check only by working together as a whole people. We can do that only if we have the facts and understand the problem and what it means to each of us.

1. What is the over-all size of our war program?

At the beginning of our new fiscal year, July 1, 1942, the amount authorized, requested and expended for war purposes was $222 billion. Of this, $35 billion had been spent and $187 billion remained to be spent in future years.

2. Will this cover all war expenditures?

The answer will be determined by the time required to win the war, the level of prices and the rate of spending. If prices do not exceed those of the first half of 1942, we can expect to spend from $70 to $75 billion a year for war purposes alone. If the war lasts more than two years or the price of war materials is not held down, both the amount and the rate of spending will increase materially.

3. What does this mean in terms of our income?

The national income in fiscal 1942 was $105 billion. It is estimated that it will reach at least $120 billion (in 1942 dollars) at the peak of our production. Our war expenditures are expected to reach an amount equivalent to 60% of our national income.

4. Will a national income of $120 billion, under war conditions, represent a condition of prosperity?

No, even a high national income under war conditions cannot create a permanent condition of prosperity. Approximately 60% of our production will be devoted to war purposes. Only 40% to the production of civilian goods. There will be much more money—more than ever before—but fewer goods to buy than in our worst depression year. Either the additional money earned will be drained off in taxes, savings or the purchase of war bonds or it will be absorbed in the purchase of few goods at a high price per cost.

JUNIOR GUILD

The Junior Guild met at the home of Mrs. Laurence Lord last Wednesday evening. Each member came in costume. Mrs. Gardiner Brown received the prize for the one whose identity no one could guess. The porch was alighted with jackolanterns and the house was almost in total blackness and everyone entered through a horror chamber.

The business meeting was held and the program committee for next meeting, Nov. 11 in the kitchen of the Congregational Church, was appointed as follows: Mrs. Parker Conner, Mrs. Ralph Moore, Mrs. Gardiner Brown and Mrs. Robert Blake. A covered dish supper is to be held and all members are requested to bring their own tea bags; also cloth to be made up into aprons at this meeting instead of a program. It was voted to give $10 to the Church for wood and electricity.

The following committees were elected for the Church Sale to be held in the near future: aprons, Mrs. Robert Blake, Mrs. W. C. Chapman, Mrs. Gayle Foster, and Miss Margaret Lundy; Gift Table, Mrs. Roy Moore, Miss Harriet Merrill, Mrs. Ralph Moore; Christmas Greens, Miss Dorothy Smith, Mrs. Charles Gorman, Mrs. Elwood Ireland, Mrs. Laurence Lord; Children's Table, Mrs. Gerard Williams, Mrs. Dellison Conroy; Candy, Mrs. Norris Brown, Mrs. Parker Conner, Mrs. Gardiner Brown; Supper Committee, Miss Ida Packard, Miss Elizabeth Mutch, Mrs. Eugene Van Den Kerckhoven and Mrs. Earle Palmer Sr.

DR. HENRY WARREN JOHNSON
Born in Winchester, Mass., Oct. 7, 1856. Died in Altadena, Calif., Oct. 19, 1942.

A sorrow laden letter from Dr. Johnson's sister, Miss Harriet Johnson, to a dear friend in Bethel brought the news of the passing on to the higher life, one of whom it was said:

"A Christian gentleman who gave of himself generously to all the best things in life."

Dr. Johnson was a graduate of Harvard University in the class of 1879. In 1882 he became Principal of Gould Academy, Bethel, continuing in that position for three years. There are still some living here no doubt, will remember the gracious, kindly, young Professor who loved Music and Shakespeare. Only last year Dr. Johnson presented to Bethel Library a fine edition of Shakespeare's complete works these books being the same ones given him by students of G. A. when he was a teacher there in the eighties.

Soon after leaving Bethel he began the study of medicine.

After graduating from medical school in 1888 he began the practice of medicine (specializing in diseases of eye, ear, nose and throat) in Berlin, N. H., where he was very successful. In Berlin he was also active in school affairs, and he and his sister, who survives were interested in starting a public library which later obtained support of the Carnegie Foundation.

Dr. Johnson practiced his specialty in New York and various European cities and for 13 years he was located in Knoxville, Tenn.

In 1920 he retired and moved to Pasadena, Calif., where he devoted himself to the study of music, art in which he was very proficient.

He was an organist of ability and a composer of worth.

Two songs of his own composing were sung and the organist played selections from his works at the beautiful services held in his memory Oct. 22 at Altadena, where the Chapel was filled with sorrowing friends.

Dr. Johnson was a member of the Presbyterian Church, the Fine Arts Club, the Audubon Society, the Cooper Club, also a charter member of the Pasadena Historical Society.

A very busy man, his spirit was great and good, a veteran whose energy and devotion other generations can well emulate.

The last few years of his life were saddened by deafness, yet he never repining but enjoyed, so much, the fragrance of flowers and the wonderful beauty of nature by which he was surrounded.

Many friends were his companions and a devoted sister strove in every way to fill his days with happiness.

A member of his Shakespeare class gives this tribute to his memory.

Continuous Life.

He is not dead, tho' he is gone, Still conscious he has but withdrawn

From out our sight He still lives on

As after night one greets the dawn, Interment was in a flower lined grave in the lovely Mountain View Cemetery, where birds sing, flowers bloom and the mountain stands a silent lofty sentinel, keeping guard.

From the U. S. to the United Nations

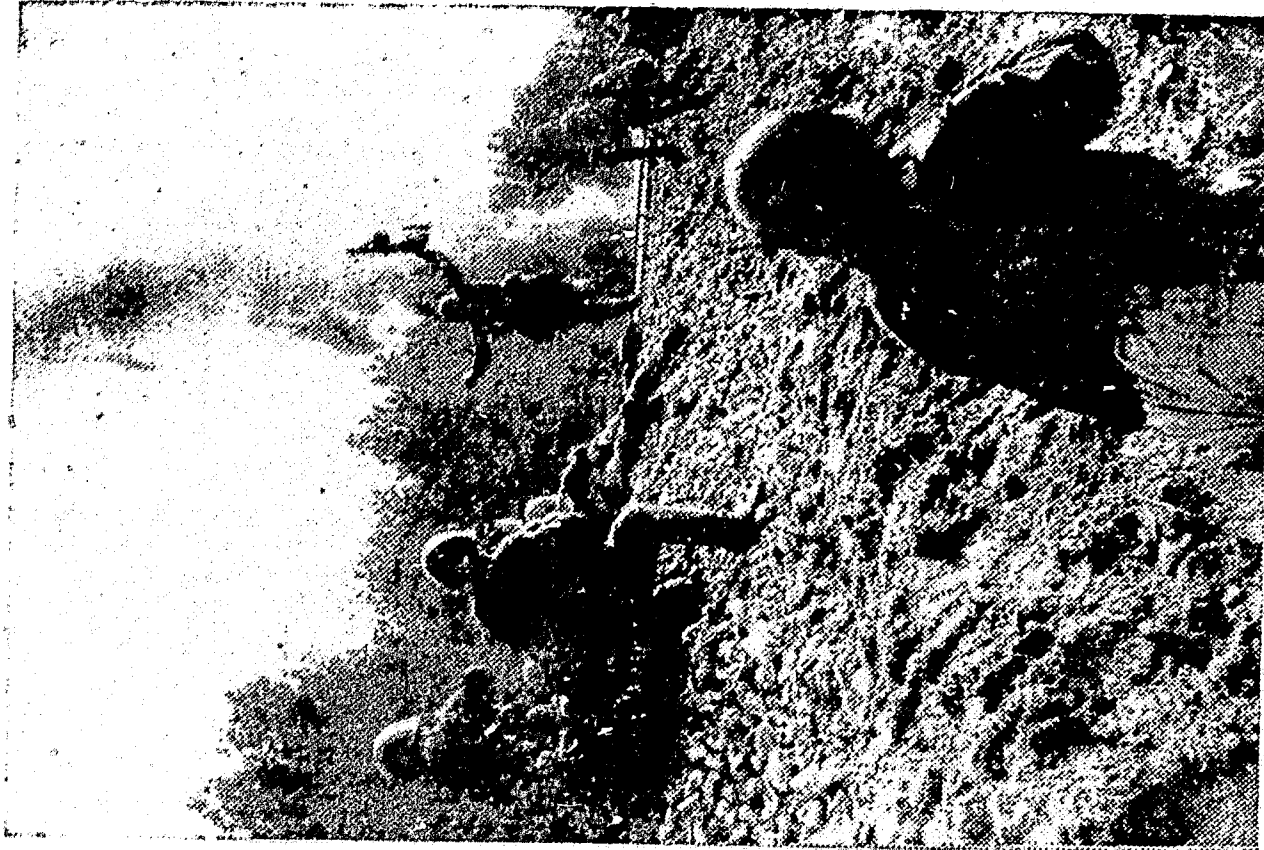

Approximately one-eighth of U. S. production now flows out of the country in the form of a lend-lease aid to the world's main fighting fronts. Starting, before America's entry into the war, as a convenient program to supply hard-pressed Britain with vitally needed supplies of planes, food and munitions, lend-lease has grown into a highly complex and highly important organization involving most of the United Nations. Six combined British and American boards sit in Washington and London dispensing ships and supplies on a world-wide basis, allocating finished products and pooling raw materials in a way that fits into the strategy of a global war. Although most of lend-lease is from the United States, more and more lend-lease is to the United States. Great Britain, Belgium, The Netherlands, Fighting France, New Zealand, Australia, India, China and Russia have made reciprocal agreements with the U. S. Thus, 10 months after Pearl Harbor, lend-lease is becoming a two-way proposition. And also during that time, it has become more than material and munitions. An American gun in the hands of a Chinese soldier is working for the U. S., British-made anti-aircraft guns are standing guard at the Panama Canal, and American planes based in Britain are destroying factories in Germany and occupied Europe producing guns that would be used against U. S. troops. Generally recognized, therefore, is the fact that lend-lease is a basis of cooperation among the United Nations and a definite strategy of victory for the war and for the peace that will follow.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

Hitler found out that his high powered mechanized and motorized army bogged down in the snow and mud of the Russian Winter. Although our Army is largely mechanized the cavalry horse is still a highly essential factor in this mounted division and in the Field Artillery. The Army also maintains remount farms where many cavalry horses are bred and raised.

These select horses cost from $100 to $165 and our crack cavalrymen are expert riders and carry on the traditions which have followed the cavalry from the earliest days of the Army. Purchase of War Savings Bonds will insure good mounts for the Cavalry. You and your neighbors buying War Bonds and Stamps regularly every pay day can help buy these horses for the U. S. Cavalry. Invest at least 10 percent of your income in War Bonds.

At Midway, in the Coral Sea and from General MacArthur's headquarters in Australia, the Navy patrol bombers are searching out enemy bases, ships and transports and "completing their mission." The Navy Patrol Bomber costs about $750,000.

Our factories are turning out hundreds of these bombing ships. Yet it is only through your investment in War Bonds and Stamps you can do your share to help provide patrol bombers for our rapidly increasing air force. Invest at least ten percent of your income every payday in these Government securities and do your bit to win and shorten the war. Our airmen are depending on your help.
